MISCELLANEOUS.

THE CALIFORNIA POWDER WORKS,
230 California Street,
SAN FRANCISCO,
Manufacture and have constantly on hand
SPORTING,
MINING,
and BLASTING
POWDER,

A superior quality, fresh from the mills. It is being constantly received and transported into the interior, is delivered to the consumer within a few days of the time of its manufacture, and is in every way

Superior to Any Other Powder
In the market. We have been awarded
Three Gold Medals!

At the MECHANICS INSTITUTE and the State Agricultural Society for the superiority of our products over all others. We call attention to our

Hercules Powder,
Which combines all the force of other strong explosives now in use, and the lifting force of the very

BEST BLASTING POWDER,
Thus making it vastly superior to any other compound now in use

Circular containing a full description of this Powder can be obtained on application at the offices of any of our agents.

JOHN F. LOHSE, Sec'y.

Call at the Journal Office.

DAILY NEVADA STATE JOURNAL

C. C. FOWNING, Editor and Proprietor.

The contract for the construction of the Colorado Mineral Palace at Pueblo, Col., has been awarded. The architect will be Egyptian in style. The building will cost over $250,000 and will be one of the largest and handsomest in the West. It will be devoted to a permanent exhibit of gems and mineral specimens, not only from the mines of Colorado, but from all over the world.

The Russian plan to construct a railway across Siberia is exciting the utmost concern among English politicians, and the Chinese Minister at Washington has taken the alarm. The Chinese recognize that when the road is begun China will have to parallel it if her possessions are to remain intact. The Chinese Minister already talks of an Anglo Chinese alliance.

Colonel James Hope, the noted safe expert, is reported to be in California and living in retirement. Colonel Hope is as illustrious a citizen as Black Bart, Esq., whom the Wells Fargo detectives have been trying to locate for many months. Black Bart is also said to be in that State, but the precise location of his person is a matter of conjecture.

One hundred and fifty-eight lives were saved from the steamer Quetta, which ran against a covered rock off the Australian coast and was wrecked.

A Careful Suicide.

Special to the Journal.

NEW YORK, March 3.—Otto Liebrand, a retired jeweler, shot himself over the heart at his home, No. 142 East Seventeenth St., yesterday. He prepared for the deed by removing his shoes, coat, vest and linen shirt, and putting his woolen shirt over the spot where he aimed his pistol. Liebrand was 37 years old, and was born in Ludwigsburg, Wurtemberg. Five years ago, while getting off a street car, he was attacked with dizziness and fell, striking the back of his head. Ever since he had severe pains in his head and at times acted strangely.

Death of a Prominent Mason.

Special to the Journal.

RED BLUFF, March 3.—E. S. Campbell, a prominent member of the Masons and Grand Army Post, died suddenly at Tehama yesterday. With a party of Masons he had visited the Tehama lodge, and while walking to the depot to return here suddenly staggered and was dead when laid down. Death resulted from paralysis of the heart.

More Floods.

Special to the Journal.

LOUISVILLE, March 3.—The river reached 31 feet, 11 and one half inches at the highest point and to-day began to recede slowly. The water now stands several feet deep in a number of business houses and the tenements on the river fronts are flooded, and factories shut down, thousands of men are temporarily thrown out of work.

Death from a Bean.

Special to the Journal.

SACRAMENTO, March 3.—The four-year-old son of Frank Tesbitt died yesterday under distressing circumstances. A few days ago the little fellow got a bean lodged in his windpipe and all efforts to give him relief proved unavailing until death put an end to his suffering.

When Does Reno Get In?

Special to the Journal.

WASHINGTON, March 3.—The Committee on Public Buildings and Grounds to-day reported favorably the following bills for the construction of public buildings: Sacramento, Cal., increasing appropriation to $150,000 (Senate bill); Portland, Or., $300,000; Stockton, Cal., $75,000.

A Mist Tailor.

Special to the Journal.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 3.—R. Valentine, the tailor, filed a petition of insolvency to-day. His liabilities amount to $14,838, assets $650. The principal creditors are Solomon Biss, $6,254; Anglo California Bank, $1,018; Ingers & Co., of New York, $3,040; Collins, Downing & Co., of New York, $3,119.

Found Guilty of Manslaughter

Special to the Journal.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 3.—Edward O'Connor, charged with murder, was found guilty of manslaughter this afternoon. O'Connor's father-in-law, Armstrong, was killed during a drunken quarrel December 17th, and O'Connor was charged with the crime.

Once More in the Tolls.

Special to the Journal.

SACRAMENTO, March 3.—Officer Issao Simmons to-day arrested in this city Joseph Reardon, who escaped from the San Francisco county jail January 12th. Reardon is charged with robbery and assault to commit murder.

The Boat Upset

Special to the Journal.

Petaluma, March 3.—Willie H. Aiken, aged seventeen, and a Chinaman were drowned in Petaluma Creek last evening by the upsetting of a boat. Hank Aiken was with them and was rescued.

Republicans Ahead.

Special to the Journal.

CEDAR RAPIDS, Iowa, March 3.—J. J. Stouffer, Democrat, is elected by 265 majority. The council stands, 9 Republicans, 3 Democrats, with one vacancy to be filled by the Republicans.

TO TUNNEL THE SIERRAS.

DEATH CAUSED BY A BEAN—TWO BROTHERS DIE TOGETHER OUT IN RATES.

One Man Had to Die That One Hundred Might Live—Excitement in a Court Room.

To Tunnel the Sierras.

Special to the Journal.

WASHINGTON, March 1.—Senator Stewart to-day offered an amendment to the bill fixing the indebtedness of the Pacific Railroads, providing that out of such accounts that may be paid to the Government by the Central Pacific Railroad Company there shall be paid to the Central Pacific Company such cost as may be incurred by the company in the construction of tunnels through the Sierra Nevada Mountains from a point of the main line of the Central Pacific at or near Cold Stream, in California, to points on the main line northwest of Rocklin, in the same State; provided, however, that the payments each year by the Government shall not be greater than the amount paid to the Government each year, and, further, that the whole amount shall not exceed $15,000,000.

Brothers Die Together.

Special to the Journal.

NEW YORK, March 3.—Thomas Smith, a watchman at Sing Sing, yesterday discovered the bodies of two men in the water just off the steamboat docks. They were recognized as those of John and Thomas Kelly, brothers, aged respectively 32 and 28 years. They were employed, Thomas as coachman, and John as butler, at the Military Academy at West Point. The brothers came to New York Saturday and returned at 11 o'clock on the same night. It is thought that they turned down towards the docks instead of going toward their home and accidentally walked off the dock. Another supposition is that one fell off the dock into the water and the other jumped in to save his brother. A verdict of accidental drowning was rendered by the Coroner.

Being Tried for Contempt.

Special to the Journal.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 3.—Judge Wallace, of the Superior Court, and Patrick Reddy were before the Supreme Court this afternoon, pursuant to order to show cause why they should not be punished for contempt. Reddy was appointed receiver of the American Sugar Refinery February 18th by Judge Wallace, although the Supreme Court had issued a writ of prohibition in the matter and closed down the works on February 21st. It was decided this afternoon to proceed as if the matter were an ordinary criminal proceeding, and Judge Wallace and ex-Judge Reddy accordingly entered a plea of not guilty.

A Terrible Alternative.

Special to the Journal.

ELIZ, Pa., March 3.—This afternoon as the west-bound Nickel Plate passenger train reached the 150-foot bridge over Walnut Creek, near Swanton, the engineer saw a man in the middle of the bridge. The train was running at the rate of 40 miles an hour and to reverse it on the bridge would have imperiled the train and its 100 passengers. Although the poor fellow stood there wringing his hands in agony and looked pleadingly at the engineer, the brave man at the lever kept on and sent one man down 150 feet into eternity rather than imperil the lives in his keeping. The man was unknown and was penniless.

Neglected and Aged Ministers.

Special to the Journal.

Boston, March 3.—The superannuated Methodist ministers' friend is the Rev. J. Benson Hamilton, of Brooklyn, N. Y. He spoke to-day before a meeting of Methodist ministers here, and made the statement that the support of ministers retired by reason of age was shamefully inadequate and that they were absolutely unprotected. "It is a shame," said he, "a burning disgrace. Would it be too severe to say it is a monstrous crime?" Mr. Hamilton produced figures showing that 258 superannuated ministers of his acquaintance received annually from $150 to $300, and 95 as little as $50.

Out in Rates.

Special to the Journal.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 3.—The agency of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad announced to-day a reduction from $73 50 to $68 on first-class tickets from this city to Chicago, and from $47 50 to $40 on second-class tickets. Several other lines are expected to make similar reductions to-morrow.

CHICAGO, March 1.—The Rock Island to-day announced a reduction in passenger rates to Council Bluffs and Kansas City to $8 and $5 for first and second class. All other lines have met the cut.

Restrictions on American Beef.

Special to the Journal.

LONDON, March 3.—In the House of Commons Long asked whether the condition of American cattle justified the regulation providing for their slaughter at the port where landed. Chaplin, head of the Agricultural Department, replied that the American Government was not complying with the conditions of the Act of 1878 and therefore the present restrictions should not be relaxed.

Chopped to Pieces by a Companion.

Special to the Journal.

SAN DIEGO, March 3.—News of a bloody cutting affray was received late this afternoon. Sunday evening three miles from Escondido, two Mexicans, Antonio Duron and Jose Acton, who had been in town all day started to San Pasqual, and when about three miles from town began to quarrel as to which was the best driver. Duron became enraged, and taking a hatchet began to chop his companion to pieces. The first blow almost cut off Acton's left arm, and the next brought him to the wagon floor with a terrible gash, and in all probability a fatal wound, in the back of the head. The murderer hurriedly unhitched the horses and taking the harness off of one rode away before the men came up and learned of the fearful crime. The murderer was arrested and placed in jail. The wounded man is still alive but this evening was considered in a critical condition. His arm is hanging to the shoulder by a small piece of flesh and his head and shoulders are badly lacerated.

Excitement in a Court Room.

Special to the Journal.

CAMDEN, N. J. March 3.—There was great excitement in the court room to-day when prosecutor Jenkins, in the middle of his speech closing the trial of Chaikney Le Coney for the murder of his niece, was prostrated by an attack of heart failure. The physician announced that it was not fatal or serious and later the prosecutor argued to let the case go to the jury. Judge Garrison said the verdicts of either second degree, manslaughter or acquittal would lay and the jury after three hours' deliberation, returned a verdict of not guilty.

Murderers Caught.

Special to the Journal.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., March 3.—S. D. Weighman and Nelson Swartz, who formerly resided at Livonia, Livingston county, were arrested to-day and have confessed to the murder of Sam Thayer at North Lima in 1885. This was one of the most brutal murders ever perpetrated in this section. One Kuhn was charged with the crime, but was acquitted.

Looks Bad for John L.

Special to the Journal.

JACKSON, Miss., March 3.—The Supreme Court to-day affirmed the sentence of the lower court in the case of Jake Kilrain, which is two months' imprisonment in the County Jail or Parvis, and a $200 fine. A decision in Sullivan's case will be rendered next Monday.

Shot in Cold Blood.

TACOMA, March 3.—Enoch Crosby, a prominent young business man, was murdered on his way home one evening last October. George E. Howe confessed at a preliminary examination to-day that Frederick Hoyt had shot Crosby in cold blood. Hoyt, Stowe and a tramp named Richard Murray were together at the time.

A Noble Barkeep.

LONDON, March 3.—Lord Bellow, a ruined Irish nobleman, has applied for a victualler's license to sell wine, beer and spirits. His Lordship was lately the landlord of a small ginmill outside Rotherville Gardens, a cookney resort, where he used to tend bar in his shirt sleeves.

Carpenter Killed.

SAN RAFAEL, March 3.—Stephen Taylor, a carpenter, employed in building the addition to Hotel Rafael, fell from the top of the annex, a distance of about 90 feet, this morning and died this afternoon.

Forty-Eight Day's Blockade.

Special to the Journal.

SISSON, March 3.—Work at Tunnel 9 is completed and freight and passenger trains arrived to-day for Oregon from Redding; the first trains in forty-eight hours, or since the fourteenth of January.

Additional Land Districts.

WASHINGTON, March 3.—A favorable report has been ordered by the House Committee on Public Lands on the Senate bill to establish two additional land districts in Washington.

Got Six Years.

Special to the Journal.

FRANCO, March 3.—Juan Dias, who killed Juan Estrada, was to-day sentenced to six years imprisonment at San Quentin.

Advice to Mothers.

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain of cutting teeth? If so send at once and get a bottle of Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething. Its value is incalculable. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, mothers, there is no mistake about it. It cures dysentery and diarrhoea, regulates the stomach and bowels, cures wind colic, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething is pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female nurses and physicians in the United States, and is for sale by all druggists throughout the world. Price 25 cents a bottle.

Between the hours of 10 o'clock A. M. and 4 o'clock P. M. of said day, to-wit: at 1 o'clock P. M., I will sell all the right, title and interest of said Willow Creek Mining Company, a corporation, in and to the above described personal property, or so much thereof as may be necessary to satisfy plaintiff's claim, besides costs and interest and accretions with it to take' place at Galena Creek, at the mill of said defendant, Washoe county, State of Nevada, where said goods are situated. Public notice is also hereby given that I will on Wednesday the 28th day of March A. D. 1890, at 1 o'clock P. M. of said day, in front of the Court House door of Washoe county, State of Nevada, sell at public auction, for United States gold coin, all the right, title, claim and interest of said defendant, Willow Creek Mining Company, a corporation, of, in and to the above described real estate, or so much thereof as may be necessary to raise sufficient to satisfy said judgment with interest and costs, etc., to the highest and best bidder for cash.

L. J. FLINT, Sheriff.

Dated March 3, 1890.

SUMMONS.

IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF THE STATE of Nevada, in and for the county of Washoe. The State of Nevada sends to Archibald Gibson GREETING. You are hereby required to appear in an action commenced against you as defendant by A. E. Gibson, as plaintiff, in the District Court of the State of Nevada, in and for the county of Washoe, and answer the complaint therein within ten days after the service on you of this summons (exclusive of the day of service), if served in said county, or twenty days if served out of said county, but within said district, and in all other cases forty days; or judgment by default will be taken against you according to the prayer of said complaint. The said action is brought to recover the judgment and decree of the Court dissolving the bonds of matrimony heretofore and now existing between you and this plaintiff, upon the grounds of desertion and failure to provide plaintiff with the common necessities of life, though abundantly able to do so, all of which will more fully appear from the complaint which is on file in the office of the Clerk of said Court at Reno, in said county, and to which you are especially referred. And you are further notified, that if you fail to appear and answer said complaint, the said plaintiff will apply to the Court for the relief demanded.

In testimony whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and affixed the seal of said Court this 3d day of March A. D. 1890.

T. V. JULIEN,
Clerk of the District Court of the State of Nevada, in and for the county of Washoe.

Where Is Heaven and Hell.

In the endless firmament
Earth, our little continent,
Has a double motion.
Traveling, traveling, restless on,
Around itself, and 'round the sun,
In the great globe evolution
But is hell amongst the spheres below,
And Heaven resting far above
On eternal's top?
No, common sense tells no,
Impossible, that can be so,
For there exists no down or up.
But mortal man in endless number,
Oh, us waits a peaceful slumber,
When closed first our grave.
For dignity, gold and feed
And fight for existence we no need,
But will be perfect safe.

BREVITIES.

Regent George left for his home yesterday.

N. H. A. Mason has returned from California.

Wood is worth from $6 to $8 a cord in Truckee.

The fast mail train was two hours late last night.

The JOURNAL predicts that this week will end the stormy weather.

Cattle are being shipped to California as fast as cars can be secured.

Polly Fredrick went below last night on a business and pleasure trip.

Gen. Clarke and Lieutenant Governor Ball came down from Carson last night.

The regular meeting of the State Board of Trade will be held on Saturday next.

Mrs. Ruasack and her daughter Fanny, returned from their Eastern trip last night.

Read the "Summons" in another column. Also the "Sheriff's Sale."

Reno was yesterday treated to a small hail storm, followed by a very slight fall of rain.

Henry Morris has associated himself with Charles Colman, of the Wine House Barber Shop.

The Reno Electric Light Company will soon have their engine ready to run in their new works.

The family of President Jones, of the University, arrived from the East yesterday morning.

M. Levy, of San Francisco, is in town, visiting his brother W. Levy, of the Palace Dry Goods and Carpet house.

Last week's ore shipments from Comstock mines aggregated about 3,000 tons, producing $60,000 in bullion.

Read the JOURNAL's advertisements, they will tell you who to deal with and where to get almost anything you want.

There is not much danger of the fruit trees blossoming too early this Spring and the fruit being damaged by late frosts.

The Supreme Court of this State has only one submitted case (the Oest) before it undecided. Of new business it has but four cases.

Mrs. Jennie Hamblen, Forewoman of the Carson Mint, and Miss Hattie Wingate passed through to Sacramento last night on a visit to Mrs. Judge Leonard, who is falling rapidly.

Dave Prosser, one of Reno's leading sheep men, is very sick with an abscess formed in the right side of his head, near the base of the brain.

Nasby has moved his book and stationery store into one of the handsome rooms in the new bank annex. The JOURNAL is glad to have Nasby for a neighbor, but will hereafter keep its woodshed looked.

Dr. H. H. Hoyt, one of the oldest printers on the Pacific Slope, died at the county hospital in Virginia City, Sunday. He will be buried under the auspices of Washoe Typographical Union, No. 62, of which he was a late member.

An editor, who deserves to be killed, gets off the following: "Delinquent subscribers are hereby warned not to let their daughters wear this paper for a bustle, as there is considerable due on it and they might catch cold."

The Carson Tribune, of last Saturday, says Z. F. (commonly known as "Doc") Alley was notified yesterday that his service would be no longer required as Silver Dissolver in the Refinery of the Carson Mint. G. W. Likens succeeds him, and O. J. Rulison, of Dayton, takes the place of Likens as helper.

COUNTY COMMISSIONERS.

Proceedings of the Board Yesterday.

The Board of Commissioners met yesterday pursuant to adjournment. Present—T. K. Hymers (Chairman), Wm. Merrill, W. P. McLaughlin, Commissioners; T. V. Julien, Clerk; D. Allen, District Attorney; L. J. Flint, Sheriff.

After allowing the regular bills and fixing the tax, which is published elsewhere, transacted the following business:

The petition for opening a road at Glendale, and the petition for a road in Spanish Spring Valley, were laid over until April.

The proposition to change the boundary of Franktown and Mill Station school districts, so as to include J. M. Lamb, in Franktown district, was postponed until April.

Drs. Lewis and Bergstein were employed to attend the County Hospital for four months from the first Monday in April, upon the same terms and conditions that Drs. Dawson and Hogan now have it.

Washoe's Taxes for 1890.

The Commissioners fixed the taxes for State and county purposes yesterday morning as follows, on each $100 valuation:

IN RENO.

Reno School Redemption.....$.80
University Bonds......10
Reno Incorporation......65

Total.....$ 80.
The county tax, outside of Reno School District, is $1.85, and within the town limits $2.65.

The Foothill Lands.

The following article from the Lassen Advocate holds good in this as well as in that section, and it is every day being more clearly demonstrated as the irrigating ditches are being extended: "It is now generally conceded that the best land for the raising of alfalfa is a light, sandy loam, such as exists all along close to the foothills on either side of Honey Lake Valley, especially at the upper end. These foothill lands which have never been looked upon with much favor by the early settlers, even in places where water might be had to irrigate them, are destined to be the great producers of alfalfa, vegetables and fruits. They are much warmer, sloping gently to the sun, are far preferable as places of residence, being always dry and easily drained. Crops come in earlier and stay longer, and they have the advantage of a magnificent view of the valley, which to some people counts for a great deal in selecting a home site. The only difficulty at present in the settlement of such land is the question of water. Hutchins and Leavitt's proposed high ditch will give ample water to all the upper end of the valley, and from the Eagle Lake Tunnel scheme all the highest land of the north side of the valley could be supplied away down to Liegan. Whenever the system of reservoirs and ditches now in progress becomes perfected so the water can be had for them, the foothills will undoubtedly be more sought after for good homes and model farms, than the more level and heavier soil of the valleys. In this respect the site of Belfast could not have been better chosen."

Differences in Climate.

The Susanville Advocate says: "The great difference in a few miles in this section of country was illustrated by a conversation with Mr. Bremner, who said that about four years ago he left Greenville on April 1st, when the pie-plants were just peeping up from their beds of compost in the gardens of that place, and coming over to this place, he dined one day at Belfast, and had rhubarb pie for dessert. On asking where they obtained the plant at that time of year, he was shown a bed of it in the garden, where the stocks were 18 inches high, and not a bit of manure or protection of any kind had been used to force them along. Yet these two places are hardly more than 35 miles apart as the crow flies, and there is not much difference in the elevation, Greenville being more closely surrounded by mountains, and more under the influence of climatic changes incident to a mountain country.

"Even between Susanville and Belfast, a distance of 14 miles, there is a well marked difference in the range of the thermometer, during the winter months, in favor of Belfast, and a still greater difference in the rainfall, which is heavier at Susanville."

Died from Exposure.

The Lyon County Times, of Saturday, contains the following:

On the 8th of last month Mr. Barnett, of Ft. Churchill, found an old Hebrew peddler in a deserted cabin on the outskirts of the ranch. The man was in a half-starved condition and had both his feet frozen. Mr. Barnett took him to the house and administered to him as best he could until last Tuesday, when the man died. When found in the cabin the man said he had been there five days. He had two pack horses with him and a couple of boxes of trinkets. Mr. Barnett had the remains interred and informed Commissioner Shaw of the facts of the case. From papers found in the clothes of deceased it was learned that his name was David Hessler, and that he was 72 years of age. Besides the horses and goods he had, $40 in money were found in deceased's clothes. Commissioner Shaw has had the facts in the case sent to San Francisco, where it is thought Hessler leaves wealthy relatives. It will be remembered that the man passed through Dayton about a month ago. He stated, when here, that he was on his way to Independence, Cal., where he had a nephew.

Almost Through.

The Truckee Republican of Saturday says the Tahoe Ice Company will complete its ice harvest tomorrow, after an unprecedented battle with snow. About 12,000 tons will be gathered, which is about three-fourths of a crop. The ice is said to be of good quality, some of it being 18 inches thick. The Floriston and Rocky Run companies are also gathering some ice which has been frozen recently and is from ten to twelve inches in thickness. Altogether about half a crop will be secured along the river, and this, together with what was left over from last year, will be sufficient to supply the demand.

A Lassen County Incorporation.

The Susanville Advocate of February 20th contains the following:

The Nevada-California Land Company, organized for the purpose of dealing in real and personal property, and of acquiring water rights for manufacturing and irrigation purposes in the States of California, Nevada, Oregon and the Territory of Idaho, filed articles of incorporation yesterday. The capital stock of the company is $100,000, divided into shares of $50 each. The directors of the company are T. E. Pope, Henry M. Nagle, Donald McDonald, Louis Mel and E. R. Dodge.

Yank's Hotel Burned.

E. Clement's ("Yank's") Hotel, situated about a quarter of a mile this side of Tallac, Lake Tahoe, was burned to the ground on Thursday night. It was a light, two-story structure, and probably worth $2,000. It is thought the fire originated from a spark. Clements and wife were on the premises at the time, but the wind was so fierce that they were unable to subdue the flames.

The Next Morning.

Next morning in his easy chair
All bent with woe he sat.
He sighed and smoothed his ruffled hair,
"Where did I get this hat?"

Saturday's Attraction.

"A Social Session" opened at the Ninth Street theater to a crowded house last night and made a pronounced hit. It is one of the most sparkling sessions of comedy ever inaugurated in Reno, and will receive a fair patronage. Nearly everything presented is fresh and overflowing with humorous situations, catching dialogue and surprising changes that keep the audience on the qui vive for surge after surge of side-splitting amusement. The operatic rehearsal by the leading characters in the company is perhaps the best thing ever attempted in that line, and the audience fairly roared at the ludicrousness of the whole affair. The star orchestra that accompanies the company is remarkably artistic in all its renditions, and the cornet solo by E. E. Nickerson, an xylophone solo by John B. Willett, were unusually fine. The comedy will run for the whole week. —Kansas City Globe, Dec. 29, 1889.

Those who were not at Small's Opera House last night and took in "A Social Session" missed a big treat. It's the finest thing we have seen on that stage since the Opera House was built. The orchestra is as good as the play itself. Considering the number, it beats Liberator's band. One could do nothing but laugh and roar, and yet all their funny business is clean and smooth. Nothing coarse or vulgar. Every musician and every actor is an artist, and when a troupe like that comes along, it deserves a packed house. —Walla Walla Journal.

WHAT ON EARTH

Is the reason people will not, can not or do not see any difference in cheap nostrums put up by cheap John houses or irresponsible parties at enormous profits, rather than take a medicine of world wide reputation and one that is giving universal satisfaction at equal price? No medicine in the world is giving such unsparingly satisfaction for purifying the blood as BEECH'S BLOOD PURIFIER and BLOOD MAKER, and every bottle that does not do its work will cost you nothing.

WHAT IS

SCROFULA

It is that impurity in the blood, which, accumulating in the glands of the neck, produces unsightly lumps or swellings; which causes painful running sores on the arms, legs, or feet; which develops ulcers in the eyes, ears, or nose, often causing blindness or deafness; which is the origin of pimples, cancerous growths, or the many other manifestations usually ascribed to "humors," which, fastening upon the lungs, causes consumption and death. Being the most ancient, it is the most general of all diseases or affections, for very few persons are entirely free from it.

How Can IT BE CURED

By taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, which, by the remarkable cures it has accomplished, often when other medicines have failed, has proven itself to be a potent and peculiar medicine for this disease. Some of these cures are really wonderful. If you suffer from scrofula, be sure to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. "My daughter Mary was afflicted with scrofula, she was 22 months old when she became a victim of the disease. Lumps formed in her neck, and one of them after growing to the size of a pigeon's egg, became a running sore for over three years. We gave her Hood's Sarsaparilla, when the lump and all indications of scrofula entirely disappeared, and now she seems to be a healthy child." J. S. CHAMBERLAIN, M.D.

N. B. Be sure to get only Hood's Sarsaparilla.

The sheen bath passed from the rainbow,
The dew from the lily is sipped,
The glory is fled from the dawn light,
The pearls from youth's chaplet bath slipped.

But, oh, little heart! try baby—
With red lips so warm at my breast—
You and I make a world to ourselves, love;
To ourselves, and apart from the rest.

My feet have trod many a pathway
With briar and blossom strewn;
Life's fragrance and bloom brushed my garments,
But vanished and faded too soon.
Yet, oh, little bud! now flower—
Nestled tenderly now on my arm—
Life lingers with still one fond blessing,
Love leaves me still one precious charm.

Looking back on strange trouble and sorrow,
Lost hopes, wounded pride and long pain,
I deny that life brings compensations—
And for all that we suffer find gain;
Yet, oh, in the joy of thy smile, sweet—
So innocent, cherubic, bright,
There is balm for the hurt of a lifetime,
Repentance for world's chill and blight.

Whom I lean on may coldly turn from me;
Whom I love may love others instead;
When I am with a kiss may betray me
And leave me alone in dark dread.
But thou, with thy blue eyes on mine, love;
With thy musical, dear, cooing call—
To thee I am still the most welcome—
To thee I am still in all!

In Love with English Railroads.

An American writer who is traveling through England writes: "Let me assure you that I am as patriotic as when I sailed out of New York, but really I must take off my hat to the superb railroad system of carrying theatrical troupes in England. We have been on a tour two or three months and we have always had two elegant carriages or cars entirely to ourselves. These are not compartments like the ordinary English carriage, but saloon carriages, with another for our star and her maid. The roads make up these special trains on Sunday for theatrical people only. For instance, our troupe desires to go from Birmingham to Manchester; another troupe is booked from Birmingham to Derby, and still another from Derby to Liverpool. The railroad makes up its special, takes the two companies from Birmingham, drops one at Derby, takes up the other there, and carries the last to Liverpool. It is economical and it is comfortable. This is going on all over the Kingdom on Sunday, and the Midland carries an immense number of traveling players."—New York Sun.

A Monkey's Heroinism.

The following story of a monkey's heroinism is told by an Indian paper: "A large orang outang was very much attached to his master and to the baby boy, who was the pet of the whole family. One day a fire suddenly broke out in the house, and everybody was running here and there to put it out, while the little boy in his nursery was almost forgotten, and when they thought of him the staircase was all in flames. What could be done? As they were looking up and wondering, a large, hairy hand and arm opened the window, and presently the monkey appeared with the baby in his arms, and carefully climbed down over the porch, and brought the child safely to his nurse. Nobody else could have done it, for a man cannot climb like a monkey, and is not nearly so strong. You may imagine how the faithful creature was praised and petted after that. This is a true story, and the child who was saved was the young Marquis of Kildare."

Crowded Streets.

Some statistics recently published by the city of Berlin show that London streets are, on the whole, the most crowded of any city in Europe. In 1878 it was ascertained that 43,014 people passed every 10 hours along the Leipziger strasse in Berlin, and in 1883, 36,000 people crossed the Jannowitz bridge every 18 hours. The most crowded bridge in Berlin is the Oramin, over which 80,000 people pass every 18 hours. In 1884, 58,743 passed along the Muntz strasse every 16 hours, and 47,606 along the Getrauden strasse. In London it is estimated 110,535 pedestrians pass over London bridge daily; over Blackfriars, 70,198; Westminster, 44,460; Waterloo, 32,815. The most crowded thoroughfare in Europe is the Pont Neuf, Paris.—Montreal Star.

Reading Faces.

It showed her appreciative temperament when a lady told with triumph the other day of such a pretty compliment paid her all unconsciously. She said it happened three other persons with herself were approaching a crossing where a neat looking servant was standing, evidently sorely perplexed as to locality. With shrewd eyes the anxious domestic examined each lady's face in turn without a word. Then with perfect confidence turned to a direction. Children and animals are said to be infallible judges of the integrity of those they come in contact with, and to this list may well be added the wayfaring person.—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Must See the Smoke.

A peculiarity about the blind is that there is seldom one of them who smokes. Soldiers and sailors accustomed to smoking, and who have lost their sight in action, continue to smoke for a short while, but soon give up the habit. They say that it gives them no pleasure when they cannot see the smoke, and some have said that they cannot taste the smoke unless they see it.—San Francisco Argonaut.

Ocular Demonstration.

An irate old Scotchman, having examined the barometer every morning for a week and found it declaring fair weather, when it was a howling storm outside, finally seized the instrument, bore it out into the rain, and yelled at it, "Confound it, mon, canna see for yersel!"—San Francisco Chronicle.

SOME ANCIENT PUZZLES.

THEY SEEM TO BE INVESTED WITH A VIGOROUS IMMORTALITY.

Revising a Conundrum Which Was Satisfactorily Solved Forty Years Ago—Tricks That Are Played with Numerals—Interesting Problems in Arithmetic.

There are certain problems, chiefly arithmetical, endowed with a vigorous immortality. No matter how often the solution is printed, or how widely an exhaustive answer is published, the question comes up again, before the ink is fairly dried, to the lips of hundreds who have not seen the reply, or who either cannot understand it or will not accept it. There are several of these which we have printed so often, but which still keep coming, that to save further time we struck off a hundred proofs of each, and mailed one to the inquirers in succession without comment. These proofs are exhausted, and we have accumulated from a score or more of correspondents the same old questions, with urgent requests for a fresh solution. We notice that The Brooklyn Eagle has been struggling with one of these. The editor who has charge of that department is very clever, and we think he is playing a little with his inquirer.

The original question sent to us forty years ago and involving the same point submitted to The Eagle was, how to find the product of £19 18s. 11d. fr. multiplied by itself. Of course if the parts of the pounds were stated as fractions, and the pounds as whole numbers, then 19 18s. 11d. could be multiplied by itself. But money of account has not two dimensions. If a table is 4 feet wide and 4 feet long, then 4x4=16 feet, and we have the number of square feet on the surface. Five times five pounds are £25, but five pounds times five pounds is unmeaning, as money does not measure itself in that fashion. Twice two children are four children, but twice children two children has no meaning. So "nineteen pounds, nineteen shillings, eleven pence, three farthings times nineteen pounds, nineteen shillings, eleven pence, three farthings," is utter nonsense.

TROUBLE SOME MILLS.

The next puzzle on the list, and one which comes the oftenest to our desk, in some form of a problem which proposes to divide a whole sum into fractions that together did not make the dividend. The original of this in our columns was an answer to an actual case where a man in his will had devised one-third, one-fourth, one-fifth and one-sixth of his property respectively to his four children, supposing that he had thus devised the whole of his estate. The fractions mentioned only made nineteen-twentieths of a whole number. This is easily seen if they are reduced to a common denominator. One-third is twenty-sixtieths, one-fourth is fifteen-sixtieths, one-fifth is twelve-sixtieths, and one-sixth is ten-sixtieths, which together make but fifty-seven sixtieths, leaving three-sixtieths (or 1-20th) to make up the whole number.

This puzzle reappears in some form every few days of the year round. It is answered on the same principle involved in the interpretation of the Arab's will. He had fifteen horses and four sons. He devised his estate, giving one son a half, another a quarter, another an eighth and the last a sixteenth. They found it impossible to agree on a division. The eldest son insisted that as seven horses would not be half of fifteen he should have eight; but the other sons objected, and as neither one-half, one-fourth, one-eighth nor one-sixteenth would give either son an even lot they had a fierce dispute over the division. A venerable sheik rode up just as the quarrel was at its height, and to compose their differences dismounted and generously offered to add his mare to the fifteen belonging to the estate, agreeing that each should take his allotted share from the whole sixteen, only stipulating that his should be the last selected. The addition made an easy solution of the difficulty. The first then took eight as his half of the sixteen, the next took four for his eighth, the third took two for his sixteenth, and the fourth took one for his sixteenth. As this made but fifteen the sheik mounted his mare and rode away. The Arab boys regarded it as a miracle, and exclaimed that Allah had given a horse to the sheik for his generous interference. In spite of this off told tale the problem still survives and annually puzzles hundreds of our countrymen.

JUGGLING WITH FRACTIONS.

A more recent problem which we have already answered several times, but which is repeated every week from some quarter, is the division of one fraction by another. The original question which we answered several years ago was: "What is the quotient of two-thirds divided by one-half?" The unthinking person would say that as the half of two-thirds is one-third, this must be the solution of the problem, but Daboll wisely refuted it. The quotient of 2-3 divided by 1-2 is 4-3; that is, 1-2-3 one and one-third times. The last form of the problem, received as we write this, is to find the quotient of 1 divided by 1/2, two partners in a leading banking house, having disputed, as they say, all one day over the result, the senior maintaining that 1 divided by 1/2 is 1, and defying any one to refute it. We answer that when 1 is divided by 1/2 the quotient is 2; that is, 1/2 will be found two times in 1. If 6 is divided by 1/2 the answer is 12; that is, there are twelve halves in six. We should beg pardon of our readers for repeating these demonstrations if it were not for the character and magnitude of the disputes which occur every day concerning them.

We have reserved for the last of the puzzles the century question, which will never be laid to rest, we believe, as long as the world stands. We printed 250 proofs of a former answer, and they have all been distributed to parties who have quarreled over it. A writer whose initials are E. B. E. asks us in a letter just to hand whether the Twentieth century begins with Jan. 1, 1900, or Jan. 1, 1901, and declares that of all whom he addressed for an answer about half took one date and half the other. There should be no question about it. This century ends with the last moment of the year 1900, and the next begins with Jan. 1, 1901.

The middle grows out of the fixed idea which some people have that the reckoning of time begins with a cipher, and that one is counted when the hour, day, month or year has closed; whereas all the counting of time begins with one, and at the end of the first period two begins to count. Thus, when a child is born, he enters on his first day of his life. His ten years are finished, not when he enters in his tenth year, but at its close; and his hundred years are completed, not when the hundredth year is begun, but ended. When we write 1900 we have begun the last year of the century, not ended it. The centuries do not begin with 0, 100, 200, but with 1, 101, 201, and thus the Twentieth century begins with 1901 at the first moment of that year. The quoted date comes with the beginning, not the close of the twelve months; and therefore, while we quote the year 1900 as we do every other year at its beginning, we must wait till it ends to close the century.—Journal of Commerce.

Fighting Pardon.

During the Eighteenth century Presbyterian ministers settled among the people of northern Scotland needed to be men of great strength, piety and zeal. The Rev. Eneas Sage, whose story is told in "Parish Life in the North of Scotland," belonged to the order of muscular Christians, being more than six feet in height and stout in proportion. A year or two after he had become minister of Lochearn, he announced one Sunday his intention of holding "a diet catechising" at the house of a dissolute man, a desperate character of great physical strength. The minister's friends remonstrated with him, but he went to the man's house, and was ordered to go away. "Easier said than done," answered the minister; "but you may turn me out if you can."

They were both powerful men, and neither of them hesitated to put upon the other his ponderous strength. After a short but fierce struggle, the minister became the victor, and the landlord, prostrated upon his own floor, was with a rope coiled round his arms and feet bound over to keep the peace.

The people of the district were then called in, and the minister proceeded seriously to discharge the duty of catechising them. When that was finished, he set himself to deal with the delinquent present. The man was solemnly rebuked, and the minister so moved his conscience that he afterwards became a decided Christian.—Youth's Companion.

Early Use of Soap.

More than 2,000 years ago the Gauls were combining the ashes of the beech tree with goat's fat and making soap. When Marius Claudius Marcellus was hastening southward over the Flaminian way, laden with spoils wrested from the hands of Viridomarus, the Gallic king lying dead by the banks of the Po, his followers were bringing with them a knowledge of the method of making soap. The awful rain of burning ashes which fell upon Pompeii in 79 buried (with palaces and statues) the humble shop of a soapmaker, and in several other cities of Italy the business had even then a footing. In the Eighth century there were many soap manufactories in Italy and Spain, and fifty years later the Phoenicians carried the business into France, and established the first factories in Marseilles. Prior to the invention of soap, fullers' earth was largely used for cleansing purposes, and the juice of certain plants spread upon cloth, stamped in with the feet, and subsequently removed by scouring. It was also used in baths, and as late even as the Eighteenth century was employed by the Romans in that way.—Exchange.

Ericsson's Home Life.

Wealth was unknown to the Ericsson family, and Swedish country living at that time was plainness itself; but love abounded, and the mother's cheerful temper, with the father's good humor and generous disposition, assured the blessings of a harmonious and happy home. Caroline was a child of unusual beauty, Nils was spirited and engaging, and the baby, John, a wonder to all. As a child John was busy the day long, drawing, boring and cutting. Providing himself with pencil and paper, he would, in the early morning, run to the mines, and sit there until dark, watching with deep earnest eye the motions of the heavy engines, copying their forms and studying into the secret of their motion.—"John Ericsson, the Engineer," by Col. W. C. Church in Scribner.

The Proper Form.

I am often asked what is the best style of dress to be worn at a morning wedding by the groom. I can only say that according to "form" in New York if the wedding occurs before noon, a double-breasted Prince Albert coat, silk hat and light trousers. If after the noon hour, it is more strictly the vogue to wear a single breasted black cutaway coat and vest, dark striped trousers, and carry a black derby hat. Standing collars must be worn with either costume, a four-in-hand scarf of rich and quiet colors, gloves in harmony with the ensemble, and a bunch of white flowers as a boutonniere. The ushers and best man must be similarly attired, with the exception of a distinctive variation as to gloves and boutonnieres.—Society Man in Globe-Democrat.

Vaccination on the Leg.

A French practitioner, in the course of a large number of revaccinations, was struck with the fact that the operation was far more successful when performed on the leg than when the arm was selected. Among 177 cases the percentage of failures was 45.45 on the leg, as compared with 53.84 on the arm.—Medical Circular.

THE WICKED FLEA.

How He Bites and Makes Miserable the European Traveller.

Almost everybody likes to travel for the purpose of seeing new and strange sights. At least almost every person thinks he would like to visit places he has never seen. He does not know whether he would like it or not until he has tried it.

Almost everybody I meet would like to go to Europe, and this is especially true of young people. The imagination works up a very lively programme, which is filled up with unalloyed pleasure. No allowance is made for any misadventures, none for great fatigue, none for the lack of accustomed comforts and luxuries, none for unexpected set-backs and difficulties.

The average small boy or girl would say that he preferred three meals a day for a week of very sweet cake to the same number of repetitions of oatmeal porridge; but he would change his mind before the week was out. When I went out to ride in the country around Constantinople a big flock of quails was always flying ahead of the carriage, and the Palace of the Sweet Waters seemed to be in a cloud of these birds. At the hotel it was quail at every meal till I hated the sight of them; and since that I have never cared to eat them.

I do not intend to give a list of the annoyances one encounters in foreign travel. It may seem incredible to my young friends that so insignificant an insect as the wicked flea can seriously interfere with so grand an achievement as a tour abroad. I do not imagine that I have suffered more than the average traveler in Spain, Italy and some other countries, though my skin may be thinner than that of most of them; but I look upon the flea as I have seen him magnified on a white surface by the lenses of the scientist.

To me he is bigger than an elephant, and it seems as though the bite of a crocodile would be pleasant compared with that of the blood-thirsty insect. This monster has not only kept me awake all night when I needed sleep, but he has made me writhe and squirm all day. I really believe the fleas in Italy and Spain are more to be dreaded than the banditti of those countries.

Spain and Italy are not alone in subjecting the traveler to the torture of the wicked flea. Even in the far north, where ice and snow dominate the year, the festive flea has a residence. One night I went to bed, tired out by a hard day's work, sight seeing, in a hotel in Christiania, in Norway. I soon found that I could not go to sleep, sleep as I was. I thought I had an attack of hives or rash, or that I had captured the itch in some steamer or hotel.

I lay in torment till I heard a clock strike the midnight hour. Then I became desperate and leaped from the bed. I lighted my two candles, determined to ascertain what the matter was. I could find nothing on my skin that looked like scabies, and then with a candle in each hand I examined the bed. It was swarming with a very large sized, black flea; and I had learned by experience that this sort was particularly wicked.

I took my corn broom and brushed them out of the bed and tried again to sleep, expecting to have my bones picked clean before morning, though I struggled in vain for another hour, and then got up again. I brushed the monsters all out again, and this time I was careful that no part of the bed clothes should drop down to the floor. This succeeded. At any rate, I was so exhausted that at last I went to sleep.

I was called in two hours; and in what condition was I to appreciate the scenery of the Christiania Fjord! As soon as the steamer was in the Skager Rack I went to sleep. That night I had my battle and defeat at the teeth of the red armored knights of my berth in a hut.

In Holland one night I was bitten one million times by another kind of flea, hardly less wicked. I did not count them, but I estimated them. Walking through the Circus of Maxentius, in Rome, I smelled pennyroyal. I had heard that this herb was an antidote for the wicked flea, as it is for black flies and mosquitoes. I gathered a considerable quantity of it; but I did not actually suffer from the depredations of the terrible monster in Italy.

In Burgos, in Spain, after looking over the magnificent cathedral and glancing at the bones of the Old and his wife, our party of three took a carriage at the hotel to visit the tomb of the Old, six or seven miles from the city. The vehicle was a tumble down old hack. A kind of cloth with a nap to it had been used to piece out the worn out lining. I wore long boots, and in a few minutes the armies of the wicked flea began to attack me by making an advance on my legs.

There was no road to the convent that contains the tomb, and the old carriage bounced over rocks, sometimes a foot high, and we were pitched from one side to the other of the interior and into the laps of each other. We laughed at the bumps we got and should have had a lively time of it if the fleas had not spoiled all the fun. We writhed and squirmed as though we were bitten by snakes. In spite of his prowess and the supernatural aid he received in his mighty victories, I doubt if the Old Campeador could have conquered the army that beset our party.

Twisting about and prouetting like a French dancing master, I looked at the tomb, but I did not take much interest in it. At the hotel I brushed the fleas out of the inside of my clothes and applied cologne to the skin, and it was very refreshing. Then I put an abundance of pennyroyal in my garments. I was all right till I took in a new stock in Madrid. They worried and tortured my companions and myself beyond endurance. I obtained a bottle of flea powder at the capital, which was of some service, but I still regard the wicked fleas as one of the scourges of travel.—Olive: Optic in Philadelphia Times.

A Boring Question.

I am curious to know what it is that makes a painting by one artist worth $10,000, and a painting by another, though equally good, perhaps even better, worth but $10. I saw some pictures recently by a painter who can just keep his head above water, which are as well painted as are the canvases of many artists who are on the topmost wave of popularity. Perhaps you will say they lack the sacred fire. On the contrary, they possess it to a greater degree than some of their more fortunate fellow craftsmen. And yet they will lie in unknown graves while the others have lofty monuments reared above their heads. I wonder what makes the difference. Sometimes I think it is enterprise, industry and tact—merely commercial qualities, that have nothing to do with the intrinsic merit of a work of art.—The Critic.

Some Curious Chinese Slang.

Some of the ordinary expressions of the Chinese are very sarcastic and characteristic. A "blustering," harmless fellow, they call a "punter-tiger." When a man values himself overmuch they compare him to "a fat falling into a scale and weighing itself." Making a thing they call "the hunchback" overdoing a bow. A spendthrift they compare to a rocket which goes off at once. Those who expect their charity on remote objects, neglect their family, are said "to hang a lantern on a rope, which is seen afar but gives no light below."—Boston Herald.
